EDISON'S ELECTRIC LIGHT.

The New York Herald of the 12th of Outobet has the following on this subject :-"The plarm among the English gas companies and the panio in their stocks on a count of Edi-

son's last invention in electric lights, as unreated

in vesterday's Herald cable despatches, are not without good cause. America's great inventor has in truth solved the problem which for years has puzzled the ablest electricians of the age. He has successfully divided the electric light, and has made it for illuminating purposes as far superior to gas as gas is to the tallow candle of the past. His marvellous invention gives a mild, start with him on a certain day for an who have seen the invention pronounce it wonder-England. I was also informed that two the final arrangements for the legal transfer. Before long, therefore, the work of introduction will begin. The patents for the United States have only just been granted, while v. M.P. at Battle; and that it was believed not yet been obtained. To-day the Professor's ments to their London agents for procuring the British letters patent. The French and other patents will be applied an simultaneously with the English one. Want word is enbled Mr. will throw his invention open to the public gaze; details, his recent controversy with Professor Hughes over the alleged stealing of the microphone having made him cautious. When the other great inventions of Mr. Edison were in progress, the laboratory was free to all visitors. The telephone was seen by hundreds long before letters patent were granted. The same was the case with the phenograph, the tasimotor, the megaphone, the quadruplex, and many other of his inventions. The case of the electric light is far different. Its place in the laboratory is one sacred to a favoured few. If the host of visitors who daily swarm the laboratory of the great inventor see it, they see it only in a detached form. The essence of the discovery is missing. Mr. Edison himself spoaks but little of the subject, but he is almost constantly at work on it. Early morning sees him in the laboratory, and it is after midnight when he leaves. On Thursday suurise the following day, and ceased then only after the earnest importunities of his assistante All his energies seem wrapped up in the new invention. His megaphone and phonograph lie idle, save for the work done or them by some of the Professor's numerous assistants. A Herald reporter learned yesterday the system proposed to be adopted after the patents are all granted First, the Professor will light up all the houses in Menlo Park gratis, and from his laboratory watch the lights' progress from night to night. It is simply a pure white light, made dim or brilliant at the facey of the person using it. The writer last night saw the invention erport and import trades will be equally profit in operation in Mr. Edison's laboratory. The inventor was deep in experimental researches.
